What we can offer YOU

The Leo Baeck College is unique – providing information, education and rabbinic training for Judaism in the 21st century. It is the only centre in the UK for the training of rabbis and teachers in Progressive Judaism.

Leo Baeck students learn in a warm and collegiate atmosphere – with teaching staff of the highest calibre and commitment, and library resources second to none. The study of religious traditions is infused with a love of Jewish learning – yet still described as being creative, diverse and inspiring.

If you would like to find out more about becoming a rabbi, the College is offering these study sessions – for existing students, for graduates and for those considering the rabbinate as a second career.
